

Hmm, I wonder.
Who are ...

... the Environmental Candidates!

Congress:

Sam Farr

Sam Farr has been endorsed by the Sierra Club and the California League of Conservation Voters because of his strong record as an environmental leader.

Sam led the fight to ban offshore oil-drilling. He succeeded in restoring funding to protect the Monterey Bay Marine Sanctuary, and he has stood up to those who would clearcut our nation's forests.

State Senate:

Rusty Areias

As a Californian Coastal Commissioner, Rusty Areias is in constant battle with extremists who would turn the Commission into a rubber stamp for rampant development schemes.

Rusty helped create the Monterey Bay Marine Sanctuary, the California Ocean Resources Management Program, and the Delta Protection Act.

Rusty is proud to be endorsed by the Sierra Club and the League of Conservation Voters.

Assembly:

Fred
Keeley

Fred Keeley has earned the endorsement he has received from the Sierra Club and the League of Conservation Voters through years of environmental leadership:

- Fred successfully stopped P.G.&E.'s attempt to increase air pollution by more than 900% at Moss Landing Power Plant
- When 400 acres of redwoods were on sale to a logging company, Fred helped transfer the property to the Save the Redwoods League.

City Council:

Mike Rotkin

Mike Rotkin has led many local environmental efforts. Mike helped organize successful opposition to:

- Lighthouse Field convention center and shopping mall
- Davenport nuclear power plant
- North Coast tract homes
- Oil drilling in the Bay
- Zayante Dam

Mike helped create:

- City's first bike lanes
- Growth management and Greenbelt
- Curbside recycling
- Expanded public transit

Mike is endorsed by the

City Council:

Katherine
Beiers

"My dreams and commitment for the future are for a thriving, beautiful city; for a diverse, open community with the highest and most humane standards of social justice; for a secure and healthy environment; for a community government truly responsive to the needs of all its citizens; and for a return to that generosity of mind and spirit to which Americans have always laid a special and justified claim.

"I believe my endorsement by the Sierra Club, the Greens and People Power reflect that com-

City Council:

Eleanor Eisenberg

"Environmental protection is a very high priority for Santa Cruz. The beauty of our bay, mountains and open space must be preserved. Safeguarding wetlands, fragile coastline, forests and the species with whom we share the world is of paramount importance."

For these reasons, I oppose the current Specific Plan for development of Terrace Point and support completion of the Greenbelt."
